At the end of life comes the last great journey of all, the journey of death. Even Christians may get apprehensive about this, but every Christian can have confidence. They have put their trust in the greatest pilot of all: Jesus Christ is the only one who has been through death and come back again.

Much of the material that follows in this study will help answer many of the deficiencies of my faith, and the journey God ordained for me to travel. As you continue to read about my journey of faith, keep in mind "faith must be grounded in the truth of God's Word for it to be fully efficacious." Though that is a true construct (without question), God in His mercy does honor an imperfect faith (that is not a contradiction); He is mindful that we are extremely deficient creatures (cf ...

The journey of faith often has many starts and stops. There are many times when we think that we are facing new paths, new beginnings, but the truth is that there is really only one journey, only one path. We often don't know the destination, or how we are going to get to where we think we need to be. All we know is that we are to follow.

The heart of our faith formation ministry is to see God for who He is, to have children see themselves the way God sees them, and to love others the way God loves us. We want to help parents build a solid foundation for their child's faith journey and guide kids toward a growing and deepening relationship with God.
