mathematics curriculum. The second trend we have identified is that of a new unification of math ematics. This is discussed at some length in [3], so we will not go into great detail here. We would only wish to add to the discussion in [3] the remark that this new unification is clearly discernible within mathematical research itself.

Module 2 serves as a bridge from students' prior work with problem solving within 10 to work within 100 as students begin to solve addition and subtraction problems involving teen numbers. Students go beyond the Level 2 strategies of counting on and counting back as they learn Level 3 strategies informally called "make ten" or "take from ten."
